

Hey Nikki Fried, (Florida commissioner of Agriculture)

I have an idea where you can win your race for governor and the admiration of the entire world.

Do it with hemp. Please let me explain. We both know hemp can do everything better.... better built houses, healthier than drugs, stronger and more comfortable than most clothing. It'll heal the soil with less water and the weed can even be used as fuel. It can be a substitute for plastic and paper; what a perfect plant. Once people get excited, the ideas and creativity will be off the chart - that's jobs.

Think about it. You can do this. You win, your party wins, America wins.

We need someone in a position like yours who can change the world. Somebody's gonna do it. Question is who.

If you are the one I'll be available via email should you need me for any reason. I can't imagine being in your position right now. Wow and congratulations. Hemp's time has come.
